Horse Racing in Hungary – Complete Guide

Welcome to the Amlin Aguri Guide Hub – here you will find everything you need to know about horse racing in Hungary. Whether you are a first-time visitor to Kincsem Park or a seasoned bettor following the forms and odds, this guide provides expert insight into every corner of the domestic racing world. From betting basics to interpreting race cards, learning about history and family programs, we cover everything.

How to bet on Hungarian racetracks?

Whether you're betting on your favorite horse or an underdog in the hope of a bigger win, it's worth knowing how betting works. You can easily place your bets at the windows and machines located in Kincsem Park and the Alagi track.

Learn about the different types of bets (winner, place, exacta, trifecta), how to interpret odds – which are usually displayed in decimal format in Hungary – and how to place your bet correctly. With this guide, you can bet confidently and responsibly even on your first visit.

The tradition of Hungarian horse racing

The history of Hungarian horse racing is rich and exciting. At its center is the legendary, undefeated mare Kincsem, who competed in 54 races and never lost, making her one of the greatest figures in world horse racing history.

Learn about the beginnings of Hungarian horse racing, the challenges of the communist era, and the revival after the change of regime. Find out how Kincsem Park became a cultural center, and what the future holds for Hungarian racing.

What should you look out for on race day?

Race day is a unique experience – it's worth preparing well. In this article, you'll find out what to bring, what to wear, and how to make the most of the day.

Don't forget your ticket, some cash, ID, sunglasses or a raincoat depending on the weather. Get to know the main parts of the track, watch the horses in the harness, and find the best vantage point for the finish line. Whether you arrive alone or with a group, good preparation makes all the difference.

How do we interpret the race card and format?

The race card is more than just a list - it's a map of your day. Learn how to interpret a horse's past results, jockey and trainer statistics, race numbers and weights.

This guide will help you navigate the sea of information, whether your goal is to place a successful bet or simply understand the competitions. If you are serious about sports or just want to follow the action better, this is the foundation.

Gallop and trotting: Two styles, two experiences

There are two main types of horse racing in Hungary: gallop racing and trotting. Both represent separate worlds, with their own rules and strategies.

Gallop racing is the classic form, where jockeys sit on the backs of galloping thoroughbreds. In trotting racing, horses pull a light cart (sulkit) with a driver sitting on it. Learn the differences, the rhythm, the tactics – and immerse yourself in the exciting world of racing.

Horse racing as a family event

Horse racing is not just for bettors. Kincsem Park and other tracks regularly organize family days where children and adults alike can find their entertainment.

With pony rides, face painting, a bouncy castle, food trucks and live music, the venues are safe and friendly, making them the perfect destination for a Sunday activity – even if you've never placed a bet before.

Odds and Payouts – How do they work?

Odds are a key part of horse racing, and it's worth understanding them even if you don't want to bet.

In this article, we'll explain what decimal odds mean, how to calculate your expected winnings, what a totalisator (a common betting base) is, and why odds change before races. It's a useful read for beginners and advanced bettors alike.

The lives of Hungarian jockeys: behind the scenes

Jockeys are the heroes of horse racing. This article takes a look at the daily lives of jockeys: the strict diet, the training, the concentration, and the hard work that goes on behind the scenes.

You can get acquainted with the system of domestic jockey schools, emerging talents and professionals who have been regularly competing at the biggest events for years.

First time at a horse race? This guide is for you

Never been to a horse race before? No problem. This beginner's guide will help you navigate your first visit.

You'll find out how to get to the venue, where to buy tickets, where to find the best vantage points and when the main races start. You'll also get advice on dress code, etiquette and how to enjoy the day even if you're not betting.

Festivals and featured competition days

The Hungarian racing calendar is full of exciting events – from the prestigious Hungarian Derby to seasonal spring and autumn festivals.

These events not only have sporting value, but also offer a social experience.

Learn about the biggest days, how to participate, and when to plan a visit. These races are the true celebrations of domestic horse racing.

LIZARD

Below we have collected the most frequently asked questions about horse racing in Hungary, race days, betting and track visits. If you cannot find the answer, please contact us at info@amlin-aguri.com.

Where are horse racing tracks located in Hungary?

The two most famous racetracks:

- Kincsem Park – located in the heart of Budapest, also hosts gallop and trotting races they are settling.
 - Alagi training ground – near Gödöllő, primarily a venue for training and pre-season competitions.

How much does a ticket cost for the day of the competition?

Ticket prices vary by event, but for most competition days:

- Adults: 2,000 – 3,500 HUF
 - For children (usually under 14 years old): Free
 - Family days: Discounts and free programs are also available

Can I bet on the spot? How does it work?

Yes, there are reception desks and self-service machines at the racetracks.

Reception process:

1. Say the race number, horse number, bet type and amount. E.g.: "Race 5, Horse number 3, winner, 1,000 HUF."
 2. You will receive the betting slip.
 3. You can redeem it after the race if you win.

What types of bets are there?

The most common bets:

- Win – If the horse finishes first
 - Place – If the horse finishes in one of the first 2–3 places (depending on field number)
 - Exacta – The first two horses in exact order
 - Trifecta – The first three horses in exact order

When do the competitions start?

Races usually start around 2–3 pm, but gates open earlier. You can always find the exact times and daily race list on the official website of the given race day or in our Meets menu.

Is it possible to bet online?

Yes, several Hungarian and international platforms offer online betting options. The official Hungarian provider is TippmixPro, but domestic competitions can also be followed and bet through international offices.

Can children visit the racetrack?

Absolutely! The racetracks, especially Kincsem Park, are family-friendly venues. They often organize children's programs, pony rides, face painting, a playground and street food stalls.

What kind of clothing is recommended for race day?

Smart casual attire is recommended for most race days. At larger festivals (e.g. Derby Day) many people choose to dress more elegantly – however, this is not mandatory. It is important to dress appropriately for the weather.

Is there parking available on site?

Yes, both Kincsem Park and other rural locations have parking. On the day of major events, it is worth arriving early to ensure you have a spot. Parking is free at some events, but may be subject to a fee at other times.

What language are the events in?

The official language of the competitions is Hungarian, but larger events often have English-speaking information or staff available to assist foreign visitors.

When is the Hungarian Derby?

The Hungarian Derby takes place every year in late June or early July at Kincsem Park. It is a highlight of the Hungarian horse racing calendar and is worth planning ahead.

Can I take photos on the track?

Yes, visitors are free to take photos, except in closed areas (e.g., the competition area, certain parts of the paddock). Prior permission is required for professional photography or press accreditation.

Cookie Reset

This Cookie Policy applies to the Amlin Aguri website (amlin-aguri.com) and describes what types of cookies we use, for what purpose we do so, and how you can manage or disable cookies through your browser.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that a website places on your device (computer, phone or tablet) when you visit the site. Cookies allow the site to remember your preferences and improve your user experience.

What types of cookies do we use?

1. Cookies that ensure basic functionality

These are necessary for the website to function properly (e.g. navigation, use of forms). They cannot be turned off.

2. Statistical / analytical cookies

They help us understand how visitors use the website (e.g. which pages they view, how much time they spend on it). We collect this anonymously, for example using Google Analytics.

3. Preference cookies

These remember the user's chosen language, settings, or previously viewed content to provide a more personalized experience.

4. Marketing / third-party cookies

We do not currently use cookies for targeted advertising or remarketing. If we do use them in the future, we will ask for your consent.

How do we use cookies?

Using cookies:

- We recognize repeat visitors
 - We conduct analyses of website usage patterns
 - We improve content and technical operation
 - We avoid repeated displays (e.g. pop-ups)

How long do we store cookies?

The lifespan of cookies varies:

- Session cookies – automatically deleted at the end of browsing
 - Persistent cookies – remain on your device for a specified period of time (e.g. 30 days, 6 months) or until you manually delete them

How can you manage cookies?

Most browsers give you the option to allow, restrict, or delete cookies.

You can find the settings in your browser's privacy menu:

- Google Chrome: chrome://settings/cookies
- Mozilla Firefox: Settings > Privacy and Security
- Safari: Settings > Privacy
- Microsoft Edge: Settings > Cookies and website permissions

Please note that disabling cookies may affect the functionality of the website.

Contribution

When you first visit the website, you will be given the option to accept or decline the use of cookies that are not necessary for basic functionality in a pop-up bar. You can withdraw or change your consent at any time in your browser settings.
